The Southern California Chapter of the Society of Critical Care Medicine strives to create safe and inclusive environments that celebrate diversity and foster positive professional and collaborative relationships. We welcome, affirm, and support critical care professionals of all abilities, experiences, races, ethnicities, socio-economic backgrounds, sexual orientations, gender identities and expressions, religion and non-religion, citizenship and immigration status, and any other category people use to define themselves or others. The Membership Committee recognizes that the value of our organization will be further strengthened as we cultivate an environment where that diversity thrives and where all member critical care professionals belong and can contribute to our shared success. The oversight and successful execution of this responsibility rests with Chapter Officers and the Board of Directors.
